downloadIndependent confirmation of the origin and evolution of crenarchaeal and eukaryotic life. The phylogeny of microorganisms has been generally defined based on their morphological, genetic or structural features, and most studies have been conducted using non-invasive (extraction) methods. Here we show that combined comparative genomic and phylogenetic methods can be used to reconstruct evolutionary history from living organisms. We show that a comprehensive comparative genomics approach can map the origins of key groups of microbes from a single phylogenetic tree. Although a wide range of organisms fit into this basic model, our results suggest that the crenarchaeal and eukaryotic 'supergroups' represent ancestral microorganisms that emerged shortly after the evolution of eukaryotic cells more than 1.7 billion years ago.

KATHMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepal's Prime Minister Sher Bahadur Deuba has resigned following weeks of anti-government protests that left at least six people dead and put the Himalayan nation at the heart of a crisis between India and its former colony. At least 2,000 people took part in protests on Thursday around Kathmandu, calling for Deuba's resignation and an end to the military rule of a party-dominated government. Protesters clashed with police in the area of the protests before and after the resignation. A protester was killed by a live bullet, while three others were killed by police gunfire on Saturday, according to an AP tally. Doctors in Kathmandu said at least 30 others had suffered gunshot wounds. The Nepalese government said in a statement Sunday that Deuba resigned on Saturday, giving the ruling Nepali Congress party's interim leader Sushil Koirala an opportunity to form a new government. The statement said Deuba submitted his resignation to President Ram Baran Yadav on Saturday. It said he "sincerely believes it is in the interest of the people of Nepal." Nepal was founded by the Nepali Congress party after it was a part of the British empire. The party remains dominant in politics under a parliamentary system, with Prime Minister Deuba the sole member of a coalition government.
